Another Socialist mayor has been elected in Germany in the person of Comrade Ullrich Schmidt at Bietigheim on Sept. 19th.

The Rev. F. W. Becker of Sheboygan, who was elected a justice of the peace by the Sheboygan Socialists at the last election, writes us a letter as follows:

These acts are his defense and the only defense he can possibly make that affects the question of principle at issue. A Socialist as a mayor acts as a Socialist. A library board is a tactical ontpost in our war on capitalism. No true Socialist will fill such a and low morality from the earth. A true Socialist did in Sheboygan. And we wish to say that our criticism was based on the fact itself and not on the testimony of any one man. To condone or ignore such conduct on the part of a man in office claiming to be a Socialist would be to descend to low, capitalistic politics, for there would be only one reason for doing so, the fear of upsetting political prospects. We are not capitalist politicians and would much rather see Sheboygan lost to the Socialists than to have it held at the price of dishonor to our principles. However, it is our belief that the Sheboygan Socialists will even gain ground if

These big campaign contributions are given with the understanding that are to be paid for in legislation afterward, so that the rascals in congress actually have their party back of them in their crookedness. The situation is not only scandalons, it is abominable. Some of the deals uncovered in these magazine articles are almost past believing. They show to what depths the citizenship of the United States has fallen, so far as our "leading men" are concerned. And no amount of exposure will shame them into the paths of rectitude. "Real Socialism, What it Is and What it is Not" by Robert Blatch-ford, author of "Merrie England," is a pretty good little work for a public office he is required to sign starter, and it only costs five cents

Anti-Socialists charge Socialism with trying to put people on a dead level. And these same people say that under the present system there is room at the top because under capitalism the average citizen has no chance to rise. Thus we see that If the penitentiaries got their due it is the capitalist system that puts people on a dead level!

who don't care a tig for the in humanities that are inseparable from the lot of the American wage slave under the capitalist system On this latter point they are brutally interested on the capitalist side and their papers are not always guarded enogh to cover up that fact. They look on the wage worker as a drudge who is too often mindful of the biblical injunction: Servants ohey your masters, and when he strikes against his economic oppressors they forget the interests of the cats and dogs and print articles about the evils of striking, articles wet with the sobs of that old selfpuffer George T. Angell, and that come direct from his bruised capitalist heart. The latest capitalistic spasm of this "humune" outfit consists in offering a $200 prize for the best plan to prevent strikes. Now a humane man, on the contrary, would be reasonably sure to offer a prize for the increase of strikesor strikes are a revolt of the plundered workers of the world against the parasitic exactions of their wage-lords, the eapitalistic profit skimmers, and make for progress. A docile working class, a class doomed to drudgery with strikes surrounded with $200 prize preventives, or more effective ones, would form a drag on the progress of the human race that might even help at a critical moment to plunge our present civilization back into chaos. But of these professionally humane people, these lick-spittle coaxers of capitalistic donations to their "humane" work, we expect nothing but inhumanity and blindness toward their human brothers, the hewers of they create as they can get. wood and drawers of water. Is a Revolutionary Body.

Victor L. Berger Writes of the Milwaukee Trades Council, and Comments on Local Conditions.

E READ IN THE DAILY PRESS that Victor L. Berger

caused a sensation in the meeting of the Federated Trudes Council by the declaration that the Socialists will not have more than 2,000 votes in the next convention of the American Federation of Labor, because the coal miners will not again stand for the Socialist resolution. Victor L. Berger however did not express it in this way. He simply explained that of the 4,100 votes which were east in New Orleans for the Socialist resolution not more than 2,000 were actually "straight" Socialist votes, the others were "accidental" votes or were obtained by tactical means, as for instance the votes of the miners. Such votes however are not to be counted on, and in the last miners' convention the Socialist resolution was voted down by a majority of two to one. Victor L. Berger pointed ont that, at best, resolutions have only an academic value and the surest way to guide the American Federation of Labor into Socialist paths is to make Socialists of the MEMBERS of the trades unions. The writer has no intention of giving figures on the vote which will be east for the Socialist resolution in Boston. Prophecies of this sort are useless. With skillful leadership perhaps the Socialist resolution may be pushed through; but it would be a dangerous self-deception if the Socialist union men use such an accidental victory for purposes other than those of agitation.

Since in Milwaukee the so-called "labor fakirs" in the labor movement have become quite rare and have little to say-for some years few scandals of this kind have been experienced here—and because strikes here are comparatively few, discreetly led and usually settled by agree-ment, the news is now much spread about in the capitalist press that the workingmen in Milwaukee are much more conservative than in Chicago for example," and many manufacturers are to remove their industries to Milwaukee. Just to scare these many Chicago manufacturers, we will explain the matter somewhat more exactly. That there are fewer strikes in the union circles of Milwaukee than elsewhere, and to our knowledge (at least within the sphere of the Federated Trades Council) no grafts whatever, is not because the union movement here is more conservative. BUT BECAUSE IT IS MORE RADICAL AND MORE REVOLUTIONARY than in any other large city in the United States. In most of the Milwaukee trades unions, and especially in the large influential ones, the leaders and also a great part of the members are convinced Social Democrats who have studied the capitalistic system, understand the social question and look upon the history of strikes and boycotts with quite other eyes than the average labor leader in other large American cities. The Milwankee trades unions are today the backbone of the Social Democratic party in Milwaukee and although there are no better union men in the whole country than our unionists, yet the walking delegate after the pattern of the Fitzpatricks, Youngs, Discrolls, etc., find here no ground at all, and every "general organizer" who comes here every little while to agitate against Socialism, is sent back to Gompers with his labor for The elected delegate to the Boston convention of the A. F. of L. was instructed to vote for international Socialism, to advo-cate a universal label, to contend for industrial organization of the unions and to take a stand against the re-election of Gompers & Co. The Patiernmakers' Association even introduced a resolution according to which their delegate (Sheehan) should be instructed to nominate himself as an opposition candidate to Compers, in case the Socialists in the Boston convention should put up no ticket. The resolution however was so amended that Shechan should induce the other Socialists in the convention to put up a complete Socialist ticket.

All these socialistic motions were carried either unanimously or by an overwhelming majority. This does not seem as if the Milwaukee union movement were more "conservative" than elsewhere. It is only much more class-conscions, solid and clean than in other great industrial cities.

Spite of the .'de of reform which is now rouring through Milwankee, the gambling hells, which were closed for a week or two, are again open. The gambling-hell owners rely on the protection of their attorney Carl Runge, who is also City Attorney. Also our King David, of the tribe of Rose, is again in our town, and the gamblers who elected him hop, that he will continue to be grateful to them as in the past. Therefore even black John Slaughter-not only the fellow's heart, but also his skin in black-has opened his dive again, although a process is now pending against him, in which complaint is made that in his place not only false dice but also false cards were used—the dice were rounded so that certain numbers would fall most frequently, and the cards were marked. Of course a certain caution is now observed hv he gambling-hells. Guards are set Victor L. Bergin. and only the initiated are admitted -but still business flourishes.

Now the manufacturers are plan- It came to the American people the working class.

However justifiable it might seem from the manufacturers' standpoint, such a combination, providto secure better working conditions, shorter hours of toil. This is all in Democrats in New York working hours as long as possible. This would be against progress. The tween the men for the johs to force them down to a living wage. Therefore it seems to us that the manufacturers, in forming a combine such as is proposed, will in the end only stir up inquiry into the ques-tion of their right to be the masters of work, and their right to extract from industry the large share of the product which they are now able to divert to themselves. All progresive trade unionists regard the capitalist class as a parasitic class, and want the people collectively to own and manage industry so that the wealth created will go to the workers themselves, and not to a master class. If the manufacturers want

After all it is not the "important inor the lending citizens, the 'hetter classes" in general, that give life to a community. It is the man that works with his hands who does that. Let him stop working and then it is seen, with surprise and consternstion, how utterly dependent upon him everybody else is.

This truth, so commonly lost sight of has been recently given vivid lilustra-tion in Texas. Thurber is a mining town in that state. It possessed a population of about 5,000. The miners had differences with their employers about wages and hours and went on strike. They did more than that. The workmen, with their families, left Thurber in a body, some moving to other mintowns and some departing from the state altogether.

The leading citizens awoke to the humiliating truth that without population there was no leading for them to do in Thurber. The merchant had no customers, the lawyer no clients, the doctor no patients, the banker no husiness, the landlord no tenants, the prescher no congregation, the newspaper no readers, the politician no follenders were looked upon with distrus and suspicion, and every one had a roast for the union's business agent or "walking delegate." Honesty of pur pose of husiness agents and labor lead ers, however, worked a hig change, and now the recognition of labor's head of ficers and representatives is the rule in stead of the exception. At the present time considerable discussion is being ludulged lu hy leaders in both the Democratic and Republican parties as to the advisability of nominating a representative labor leader for vice president by the next national convention. This aentiment has reached the stage of being discussed in the leading party or gans of the country, and it is recalled to mind that Theodore Roosevelt and John Mitchell have been coupled together as running mates in 1904 by Republicans, while W. R. Hearst and H. W. Steinhiss, general accretory of the National Building Trades Council, have been spoken of favorably in Democrat circles. Should either combination be successful it would certainly be in teresting to know what effect the nomination of a labor man for vice president hy one of the two old porties would have on the labor vote. Unity of action by laboring men of the Unit-cd States is being counseled by labor leaders, and a large percentage of the members of the older organizations act along this line. It is an open question though, whether the nomination of one of their leaders for the second place on either of the tickets would influence their voting in national politics.— Charles W. What We Social Democrats Are After.

The Socialist party, in national convention assembled, restirms its ence to the principles of International Socialism, and declares its aim to organization of the working case, and these in sympathy with it, into a party, with the object of conquering the powers of government and using for the purpose of transforming the present system of private ownership means of production and distribution into collective ownership by the records.

people. Formerly the tools of production were simple and owned by the individual worker. Today the machine, which is but an improved and more developed tool of production, is owned by the capitalists and not by the workers. This ownership enables the capitalists to control the product and keep the workers deposit.

Private ownership of the means of production and distribution is responsion the ever-increasing uncertainty of livelihood and the poverty and misers the working class, and it divides society into two hostile classes—the capital and wage—workers. The once powerful middle class is rapidly disappearing in mill of competition. The struggle is now between the capitalist class as working class. The possession of the means of livelihood gives to the capital the control of the government, the press, the pulpit and the schools, and a hies them to reduce the workingmen to a state of intellectual, physical and as inferiority, political subserviences and virtual slavery.

The economic interests of the capitalist class dominate and the subserviences and virtual slavery.

The economic interests of the capitalist class dominate our entire social system; the lives of the working class are recklessly sacrificed for profit, are formered between nations, indiscriminate slanghter is encouraged and the destruction of whole races is sanctioned in order that the capitalists may entend their commercial dominion abroad and enhance their supremery et home.

But the same economic canses which developed capitalism are leading to Socialism, which will abolish both the capitalist class and the class of ways workers. And the active force in bringing about this new and higher arter of sociaty is the working class. All other classes, despite their apparent or actual conflicts, are alike interested in the upholding of the system of private ownership of the instruments of wealth production. The Democratic, Republican, the bourgeois public ownership parties, and all other parties which do not stand for the complete overthrow of the capitalist system of production, are alike political representatives of the capitalist class.

The workers can most effectively act as a class in their party, distinct from and opposed to all parties formed by the propertied classes. While we declare that the development of economic conditions tends to everthrow of the capitalist system, we recognise that the time and mannet of the transition to Socialism also depends upon the stage of development reschally the proletarist. Wa, therefore, consider it of the numest importance is the Socialist party to support all active efforts of the working class to better its condition and to elect Socialists to political offices, in order to facilitate the statement of this and. tainment of this end.

The workers can most effectively act as a class in their struggle against the collective powers of capitalism by constituting themselves into a political party, distinct from and opposed to all parties formed by the propertied classes.

As such means we advocate:

1. The collective ownership of all means of transportation and communication and all other public utilities as well as of all industries controlled by monopolies, trusts and combines. No part of the ravenue of such industries to applied to the reduction of taxes on property of the capitalist class, but to be applied wholly to the increase of wages and shortening of the hours of labor of the employes, to the improvement of the service and diminishing the rates to the consumers.

2. The progressive reduction of the hours of labor and the increase of wages in order to decrease the share of the capitalist and increase the share of the worker in the product of labor.

3. Stata or national insurance of working people in case of accidents, lack of employment, sickness and want in old age; the funds for this purpose to be furnished by the government and to be administered under the control of the working class. ing class

4. The inanguration of a system of public iodustries, public credit to be used that purpose in order that the workers be secured the full product of their leher.

5. The education of all children up to the age of 18 years, and state and menicipal aid for books, clothing and food.

6. Equal civil and political rights for man and women.

7. The initiative and referendum, proportional representation and the right of recall of representatives by their constituents.

or recall or representatives by their constituents.

But in advocating these measures as steps in the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of the co-operative commonwealth, we warn the working class against the so-called public ownsrahlp movements as an attempt of the capitalist class to secure governmental control of public utilities for the purpose of obtaining greater security in the exploitation of other industries and not fat the amelioration of the conditions of the working class.

Populist mevement has almost if not quite disappeared,-if these tower in importance far above every other, so far as the farmer is conerned.

One of the first objections made in answer to the Socialists is that Socialism is impossible to get. This is the usual objection raised to every effort for human betterment that has ever been made.

But after all the main question is not whether Socialism would be casy, hard, or impossible to get, but whether or not the economic interests of the working class demand it.

It cannot be connted an argument against a proposed line of action that some one should raise the worn out cry of "Impossible." Every achievement of human history has been previously thus shown to the satisfaction of some minds to be "impossible." And every invention, every discovery, the achieve-ment of modern science, and the history of every nation on earth has refuted a thousand times and silenced forever this feeble objec-

The opponent of Socialism as sumes that the wage-earner who owns a home and the farmer who owns a farm can be counted upon to oppose Socialism. This is proven. For the farmer will not be required to surrender his farm. And certainly the wage-earner will not be asked to give up his home. The very purpose of Socialism is to guarantee to every one private property not only in homes, hut in all things needed for a personal life, or to use a more accurate expression—the wealth of consumption. And furthermore to guarantee to every worker access to and the use of all the material means of production necessary to enable him to freely produce. Thus Socialism would secure to the wage-earner and the farmer alike exactly that which This man was the companion they most need and most desire They cannot therefore be counted against Socialism, but quite the > Another "objection" is that Socialism would be unsatisfactory if we should get it. One critic claimed that the burden of taxation would then fall upon the farmers. This is quite untrue. For, in the first place, under Socialism there would be no sneh thing as taxation.

"NO POLITICS IN THE UNION!"

A algnificant incident occurred last week at Omaha. It happened in the meeting of the Central Labor Union where there has for some time been a growing progressive element, sufficiently large at times to prevent the labor fakirs from successfully plying their trade—and trades! Now the thing that happened was this: At one of the regular meetings which chanced to be poorly attended, the fakirs saw their opportunity and presented a motion to endorse two old party judicial candidates, on the specieus plea that they were "political friends of Incidentally it may be mentioned that these old party candidates were naturally non-union men, and that the Socialists had a ticket in the field made np principally of union men, some of whom were also delegates to the central labor body. But these facts are only valuable here as pointing out the certainty that the willingness of the labor fakirs to pass by candidates of their own class and to endorse capitalistic candidates could not possibly spring from personal disinterestedness, but points to a financial (direct or indirect) sell-ont by the fakirs of their dupes among the organized laborers. Thus these men stand revealed for just what they are: Rascala, and richly deserve to be drummed out of the ranks of labor organization.

But the point we want to bring out is that these very men had been loud in their ery of "No politics in the nnion," whenever the word Socialism was uttered on the floor of the Omaha council. Members who were easily fooled supposed they were henest about it and were more or less impressed by their foxy plea that "politics in the union will injure the harmony of unionism." But sooner or later such fakira are sure to unmask themselves, and to show that they are not opposed to politics and unionism mixing, providing it is along the old "pure and simple" line—that is, a sell-out of the labor vote to capitalistic politicians for a consideration, and that consideration going into the pockets of the fakirs themselves, unknown, of course, to their dnpes

For years this sort of rascality was the rule in unionism and a lahor leader was too often a scamp who was fattening his own pockets at the expense of the labor movement. Utterly disreputable and smooth, these fellows came to play a set led part in capitalist polities, and the old party managers usually reckoned on influencing the labor vote, that is, the votes of the organized labor class, by directly buying these labor representatives. The labor leader (of course, there were some, we are happy to say, who were true men and incorruptable) was a sort of small political boss, only when he could not get his price from one party he was able to make a lightning change of his political convictions and turn from Republican to Democrat or from Democrat to Republican as the case might be, according as he was best able to drive a bargain with the big party bosses.

So that, under the old regime, there were two classes of organized workmen: First, the LABOR FAKIR. Second, the LABOR DUPE, and the latter class, of course, was the most numerous!

There were many men in the lahor movement who were shocked and disgusted at this rotten condition of things. For years they wanted to see a house-cleaning, but lacked the numerical strength to carry their ideas into effect. They were helpless until a few years ago when Socialism began to make headway in the labor ranks. It came as a purifying force. Socialism attacks corruption wherever it encounters it. One morning, for instance, the newspaper readers of Milwaukee read in their morning paper that a bunch of twelve labor fakirs had been thrown out of the central labor body the night before by an opposition led by Socialists. The same thing had happened before, but on a smaller scale. And the same influence began to be neticed more and more in other large cities. The Socialist giant was growing! And in Milwaukee, it may be added, the deposed "leaders" piled their game independently, with the help of the daily capitalist papers—notably the Milwaukee Sentinel—and on one occasion were seen in a down town saloon dividing up a big roll of bills that they had received from a capitalist party for their attempted effort to awing the labor vote into line. vote into fine:

At every point where the Socialists are strong in the labor move-ment there is a gradual house-cleaning going on. There is a new desire to see the labor cause kept clean and free from eapitalistic methods. It is even surging up in the American Federation of Labor, rising Cleveland-Hanna Civic Federation affiliations and expensive pure and simple lobbying methods, many sleepless nights. Even in the Chicago Federation of Labor, heretofore supposed to be hopelessly corrupt (with prominent members on the County Democracy payroll, and drawing public salaries for "inspectorships" ereated for the purpose!) the house-leaning spirit is developing, and that body may yet be purified. Unionism can only put up a successful fight on capitalism when it is progressive—and clean! it is progressive—and clean!

From the foregoing, we can come to this conclusion: That the real From the foregoing, we can come to this conclusion: That the real motives back of the man who ye...s, "No politics in the union," are dishonest motives, and that if he had his way the unions would not only go into politics, but into the capitalist variety of politics, which spells the huving and selling of votes. Such a man is one who needs watching. You will notice that with all the recent exposures of rascality in labor ranks in the East, the most notable of which is the Parks case, it was pure and simple unionism, not progressive unionism that was disgracing the name of labor organization. That sort ism that was disgracing the name of labor organization. That sort of thing is the anti-Socialist unionism of the past come to flower. It will vanish as Socialism becomes the guiding motive in unionism.

The sooner that time arrives the better!

For fourteen years the "red spook" made its Milwaukee abodo it 614 State street. At the beginning it was the home of the Socialist daily, the Volkszeitung, at that time the oldest Socialist daily in the United States. Prior to moving to State street the paper had been under the editorial charge of Paul Grottkan, who was prominent in the Social Democratic movement of this country and Germany, Grottkau was succeeded by Michael Biron. Soon after this another change took place. Victor L. Berger took the helm, and in making notable changes in the appearance of the paper also changed the name to Vorwaerts, with a weekly issue called Wahrheit. In time it became quite a publishing plant. A large newspaper press was installed in the basement, the type setters, twelve in number, were located in a composing room in a little yard building a few steps in the rear, while into the small store space keeper, city editor, three reporters and office hoy.

ALHAMBRA THEATER.

"Lost River" will be next week's attraction at the Alhambra, and Manager Miller promises another surprise, as the scenery of the origproduction will be used, including the panoramic effects of the marvelous bieycle ride in a storm, and the other startling features. The play takes its name from the wonderful river in Indiana which flows from a mountain for some six miles and then disappears in a cave and has never been traced further. The company is a fine one and in its hands the strong story of love and jealousy and riches and poverty is brought out in a most acceptable First matinee Sunday afterway.
